

HIGH SCHOOL CADETS TO RIVAL IN DRILL

Former Army Officers Will Act As Judges in Contest Today; Losers to Pay For Banquet.

When the band playing "Over There" and other familiar army marching songs the Tulsa high school cadets will hold their annual competition drill at the Leo school at 4:30 p.m. Friday afternoon. The competition will go through close combat, marksmanship and all other usual drill maneuvers and all other members of the association will be on hand to have a check on the best drill at the school.

The members will be judged by six former army officers. Points will be given for each part of military performance and losing company will have to pay the expense of the military banquet which will be held at 7 o'clock Friday night.

At the opening of the banquet non-commissioned officers' warrants and diplomas will be presented to eligible members by C. V. Palmer, major instructor of the school.

Following the banquet both companies will attend the junior-senior dance where they will be the honored guests.

The competitive drill will be held on the main floor of the grade track field house. This will mark the use of the year's drill for the students and will be the climax of a successful year for the school in military training.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS CONVENTION IS CLOSED

Oklahoma City, May 22.—With the session of Oklahoma City Knights of Pythias grand lodge adjourned Saturday evening, the Oklahoma grand Lodge Knights of Pythias came to a close after a two-day session. Oklahoma was chosen after a spirited contest in which Drumright, El Reno, Seminole and Pauls Valley entered, because of a disposition to make Oklahoma the permanent home of the grand lodge.

The grand lodge endorsed the proposed amendment to reduce the age limit of membership from 21 to 18 years. This was voted upon by the entire grand lodges and acted finally by the supreme lodge in 1918.

After a wide debate, the grand lodge voted to retain the law by which state officers are elected in January by referendum vote. The only state officers installed at the session are Frank E. Dunn, Tulsa, supreme representative; J. D. Carmichael, Chickasha, grand chancellor; James Bowen, Tulsa, grand vice president; Frank H. Ardmont, grand presiding officer; W. H. Holden, grand keeper of records and seal; R. A. Pendle, Muskogee, grand master of ceremonies; W. W. Holder, Kellyville, grand master at arms; George H. Millikan, Pringley, grand inner guard, and W. T. Pace, Madill, grand outer guard.

The annual assembly of the Python Sisters also was concluded and the 1920 session will be held in Oklahoma City.

Denounces Profiteers.
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Food profiteers were denounced in the House today by Representative Fitzgerald, Democrat of Massachusetts, who declared it was the paramount duty of Congress to find out as speedily as possible what the food situation in the country was and whether the government was continuing at corners prices by heavy taxes storage. In this connection he referred to the large surplus stocks of meat products ordered for the army and held by the war department.

Considers New Ambassador.
PARIS, May 22.—The recent visit of Earl Curzon, government minister in the British house of lords, and four members of the council, whom he conferred with American officials, has led to a series of reports concerning the appointment of a new British ambassador to the United States. The names of James W. Williams, speaker of the house of commons; Herbert A. L. Fisher, minister of education, and Sir Albert Stanley, president of the board of trade, are being mentioned as possible appointees to the ambassadorship.

Mrs. R. F. Ellinger, Noble Banker, First Woman to Be Given Office, Gets "All Flustered" On Stage

When Mrs. R. F. Ellinger of Noble, Okla., was conducted to the stage at the Empress theater Thursday and introduced to the convention as the only lady in the United States who has been honored with an office in a state banking association she was so overwhelmed with surprise that she was incapable of making a speech.

R. F. Ellinger is president of the First National of Noble, and her wife has served as cashier for the bank seven years and has been "SWIB" the bank for 47 years. For 15 years she has missed but one state convention of the institution.

"I just can't make a speech, for I can't find words because this is such a surprise to me," said Mrs. Ellinger to the convention. "And you know, folks, when a woman is at a loss for words there is something amiss."

and the convention gave her a hand equal to that accorded Chaplain Ewart earlier in the day.

"Of course," she said, "there

MARY PICKFORD IN "Daddy Long Legs"

FROM THE PLAY BY JEAN WEBSTER, DIRECTED BY MARSHAL NEELAN, is a picture that will please everybody. This is a broad statement, but we make it advisedly. We know the regular fans will come to see it but we want to appeal to those who are not fans, those who say "I don't go to picture shows very often," to see it also. You will feel better for seeing as sweet a story as was ever told on the screen.

GIRL'S ASSAILANT HAS NOT BEEN ARRESTED

County Combed by Sheriff's Deputies But No Trace of John Steel Is Found at 2 This Morning

No trace of John Steel, charged with criminal assault upon the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson of Garden City, has been found as yet. The county officers failed in their search Thursday afternoon and night for the man whom the child's parents claim is responsible for the injuries received while the girl was with a boy friend companion, playing in an abandoned house near the Arkansas River.

The child's father appeared before the county attorney Thursday morning and stated that in addition to the assault upon the girl, Steel had assaulted him when the latter went to the Steel home in Garden City addition Wednesday night and had threatened to shoot his wife.

Several weeks ago the governor signed a bill authorizing the state to spend $25,000 for wages of state police officers.

Heads of a large number of congressional committees

opposed the bill, saying it would be a waste of money.
